University of Nebraska - Lincoln
DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln

10th Annual National Conference (2005): Different Perspectives on Majority Rules

People of Color in Predominantly White Institutions

11-1-2005

Equality is a Bitch! Blackness is a State of Mind. Internalization of Whiteness is a Forced Reality

William B. Stewart
Director Emeritus, Minority Student Programs, University of Minnesota Morris

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.unl.edu/pocpwi10

Part of the Race, Ethnicity and post-Colonial Studies Commons

Stewart, William B., "Equality is a Bitch! Blackness is a State of Mind. Internalization of Whiteness is a Forced Reality" (2005). 10th Annual National Conference (2005): Different Perspectives on Majority Rules . Paper 36.
http://digitalcommons.unl.edu/pocpwi10/36

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the People of Color in Predominantly White Institutions at DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln. It has been accepted for inclusion in 10th Annual National Conference (2005): Different Perspectives on Majority Rules by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln.

Equality is a Bitch! Blackness is a State of Mind. Internalization of Whiteness is a Forced Reality

Abstract
This presentation will demonstrate how the striving and struggle for "equality" by non-white students (Blacks, Native Americans, Hispanics, and other groups) in predominantly white educational institutions have not achieved "equality" when they graduate. They have acquired an "equivalent" rank of "as if equal" non-white elite in a non-white world separate (de facto) and unequal that is an imitation of the white world. The socioeconomic hierarchy is an abstract, powerless dependent world in a colony-like state. The power that they have serves the white powerful ruling white group more than it serves the nonwhite community. The relationship between the white ruling group and the elitist non-white group is still dependent and parasited symbiotic. The non-whites have abstract privilege but no built entitlements. Their socioeconomic hierarchy is analogous to the imperial dependency as that exists in the Third World.

Ida Stewart
Assistant Director, Institute Administrator, Research and Instructor, William B. Steward Institute

William B. Stewart
Director Emeritus, Minority Student Programs, University of Minnesota Morris