Practices (our standards for raising or making our products)
Our animals are raised from birth on our farms. We know exactly what they eat from birth. They are never given antibiotics or artificial growth stimulants. No animal by-products are fed to our animals. Our animals are not grown in confinement buildings. They are raised on grass and in open lots and grain finished on non-GMO corn, soybeans, oats and alfalfa. Our animals are taken directly from our farms to a

“The capacity for innovation—bringing imagination to bear to solve problems and respond to human needs—lies at the heart of success. Companies must find new ways to break out of the pack. Those that don’t will struggle to keep up in the marketplace.”

Entrepreneurial Leadership & Innovation:

A Little Practice

- Divide into Teams
- You are a team that has been selected for a very special mission...
The Mission: Innovation

• Your team has been charged with creating an atmosphere in your organization that encourages and supports continuous Innovation
  - First, Name Your Organization
  - Second, Describe Your Organization using both Words and Pictures
The Mission: Innovation

1. Written Description=Words
   - Describe the Innovation Process you are developing for your organization

2. Visual Representation=Pictures
   - Draw the Innovation Process you are developing for your organization
Group Discussion

• Share Your Plans (Written & Visual)
• Share Your Observations about:
  - Integrating Innovation into an Organization
  - The Roles of Leaders, Followers & Teams
  - Obstacles and Catalysts of Innovation
  - Measuring Innovation
  - Entrepreneurial Leadership as it relates to Innovation
What Organizations are Doing for Innovation:

• Hiring People at the Top Levels Dedicated to Innovation (CIO)
• Designing Workspaces and Group Activities Designed to Stimulate Creativity and Innovation
• Holding Innovation Days and Contests
• Hiring Innovation Coaches
• Creating Web-based Innovation Programs and Portals

(p.9 of workbook)
What Organizations are Doing (cont’):

- Providing Employees with Time to Spend on Outside Activities
- Taking “Innovation” Walks
- Having Fun???
- Actively Participating in Open Innovation
- Ending Projects
- Others??
Reminder:

- Innovation should be integrated into all levels of an organization
- Metrics should be established to measure innovation and its impacts on the organization
  - What is measured is typically what gets done

Objectives:

1. Understand the concept of Entrepreneurial Leadership
2. Discover the Key Components of Innovation
3. Realize the Importance of Entrepreneurial Leadership & Innovation in our Organizations
