DEDICATION

This year the members of the Nebraska Chapter of the National Block and Bridle Club dedicate the yearbook to Mr. Harry M. Knabe of Nehawka, Nebraska.

Harry M. Knabe, a nationally known breeder of Hampshire hogs, farms near Nehawka, Nebraska in Cass County. His successful career in swine production began 43 years ago with the purchase of a $25.00 gilt for a 4-H project.

Mr. Knabe has consistently kept up with the ever changing trends in swine production and has been lauded by his colleagues as "A Breed Builder". In 1929, he developed a boar, called Promoter, which took junior championship honors at the Nebraska State Fair that year, was champion yearling in 1930 and grand champion in 1931, 1932, and 1933. Mr. Knabe showed the world's champion sow and the world's champion boar. This is believed to be the first time in history that both champions were owned by one breeder.

Mr. Knabe now farms in partnership with his son, John, and is vice-president of the American Hampshire Swine Association. In 1959, the father-son firm qualified the first "Pacesetter Certified Litter" in the world.
The swine production record of Mr. Knabe, along with his other contributions to livestock, agriculture, and farm youth has earned for him the recognition of being the year's outstanding stockman.

Dr. Ernest R. Peo, Jr. is the advisor of the Block and Bridle Club. Dr. Peo has been an Assistant Professor of Animal Husbandry at the University of Nebraska since 1956. Teaching and student advising takes up much of his time, while his major interest lies in research in animal nutrition, especially swine nutrition. Dr. Peo comes from New York State where he attended Syracuse University. He did his graduate work at Oklahoma State University where he received his B.S. and M.S. degrees. He earned his doctorate degree at Iowa State University. Dr. Peo is married and has a teenage son. He is affiliated with Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Xi, Gamma Sigma Delta, and the American Society of Animal Production. Yet, he has found time and energy to guide our club to a well-rounded, successful program. For this the Block and Bridle Club members are most appreciative and want to express their hearty thanks.

Our advisor, Dr. E. R. Peo, Jr., at work in the laboratory.

Cook moved to donate $5.00 to A.U.F. It was seconded and passed.

Williams told of the death of Mr. Mousel, a past honorary and said he would send flowers and a sympathy card.
Dr. Keith Gregory from the Cattle Research Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture was our guest speaker.

INITIATIONS

NEBRASKA BLOCK AND BRIDLE CLUB

The Nebraska Chapter of the National Block and Bridle Club follows a traditional procedure in initiating new members. Individuals wishing to join must file an application with the membership committee. The committee then checks to see that all the applicants have met the requirements. The club votes whether or not to accept the candidates. The candidates are then traditionally initiated at an informal ceremony and then undergo a week of pledge period during which they must obtain the signatures of the Animal Husbandry faculty and the club officers. At the end of the pledge period they are formally initiated into the club.

This year the club initiated 25 new members. The following eleven people were initiated in the fall:

Paul Bengston       Carl Jessen       Jon Moyer
Marvin Daniels     Dan Kingman      Kit Phelps
Herbert Hanick     Harlan Ladehoff Harlan Stiefel
John Head          David McClatchey

The following 14 men were initiated in the spring:

Kieth Carlson       Douglas Dunn   Don Lydic
Myron Carlson       Micheal Harding Lynn McCall
Bruce Cheney        Dave Howe      Lane McClure
Ron Christenson     Delmar Lange  Dave Zimmer
Ron Cool           Tom Lewis

NEBRASKA FEED AND NUTRITION CONFERENCE

The Feed and Nutrition Conference is held annually by the Animal Husbandry and Biochemistry Departments of the University of Nebraska. This conference is attended by feed manufacturers, feed dealers, researchers, and interested stockmen to discuss recent advances in the science of feed processing and nutrition and their application for the advancement of feeding and managing of farm animals.

The Block and Bridle Club served a luncheon featuring barbecued meat at this conference.

The Block and Bridle Club provides the dinner for two purposes. The first is so that the people attending the conference do not have to leave campus to eat dinner and the second is to improve public relations between the University and the people of the state.
PUREBRED BRED EWE SALE

The University of Nebraska held a purebred bred ewe sale at the Animal Husbandry Pavilion on Ag Campus on December 10, 1961. At this sale purebred sheep breeders from throughout the state consign their bred ewes.

The Block and Bridle Club members set up the necessary equipment and assist with getting the sheep to and from the sale ring. They also serve as ringmen and assist the clerk. This year there were Hampshire, Shropshire, Southdown, Corriedale, Suffolk, Cheviot and Dorset breeds represented in the sale.

The Block and Bridle Club received $40.00 for its assistance with the sale.

One of the top ewe of the sale, purchased by an F.F.A. boy, rides home in style.
The Block and Bridle Club held a Holiday Ham Sale again this year to raise money to be used for our tour next spring. The hams were purchased from Geo. A. Hormel Company of Fremont, Nebraska. The club sold 3,171 lbs. of ham and made a profit of $203.44 on the project.

The hams were sold during the two weeks prior to Christmas vacation. The club was divided into teams and the team selling the most hams received a ham and the high individual received a Block and Bridle Club pin.

To aid publicity a Block and Bridle Queen was sponsored in connection with the ham sale. Five finalists were selected from candidates entered by each organization on campus. The people who bought hams were allowed ten votes per ham for their choice of the Block and Bridle Queen. The five finalists were: Lorraine Harris, Judy Maranville, Dorothy Sedlacek, Connie Sterner, and Mary Ann Wetzel. Miss Judy Maranville was the winner of this year's contest and she will reign as Queen during the next year.
The members of the Block and Bridle Club enjoyed dancing and card playing at this year's Social which was held in the Ag Student Union on February 9, 1961.

The highlight of the event was the presentation of the Block and Bridle Club Queen.

SHOWMANSHP CONTEST

The 1961 Showmanship Contest was held on February 18 in the Animal Husbandry Livestock Pavilion.

Roger Stork of Blair, Nebraska won the cattle division with Francis Lavicky of Oshkosh taking second place. The swine division was won by Mylon Filkins of Brunswick, Nebraska and second place went to William Ahlschwede of Crete. Larry Williams, our club president, from Johnstown, Nebraska won the sheep division and Gerald Huntwork of McCook took second place. Mylon Filkins went on to win the championship with Roger Stock taking reserve champion honors.

The judges for the event were: cattle, W. G. McCubbin of Elkhorn, Nebraska; swine, Willard Waldo of DeWitt, Nebraska; and sheep, D. V. Spohn of Superior, Nebraska.

Chairman of the event was Angus Garey.

BLOCK AND BRIDLE CLUB JACKETS

The members of the Block and Bridle Club decided to purchase jackets with lettering on the back showing that they are members of the club. Light beige jackets were purchased and on the back was lettered out, in navy blue, "Uni. of Nebr. Block and Bridle Club." These jackets have drawn much favorable comment and are a good way of advertising our organization.
BLOCK AND BRIDLE CLUB TOUR

The members of the University of Nebraska Block and Bridle Club decided to take a tour on March 30, 31 and April 1, 1961. Twenty-five of the club members, our advisors, along with a photographer from the University of Nebraska Publicity Department took part in the tour. First stop was made at the P. K. Pratt Angus Farm at Walnut, Iowa where we saw some excellent Angus cattle. While there, some of the Angus Association showed us how they classified his cattle.

Next stop was the Walnut Grove Products Co., Inc. at Atlantic, Iowa. A tour was given through the research farm and processing plant after which we were served a delicious meal.

The farm of Wiese and Sons, Battle Intense Herefords of Manning, Iowa was the next stop on the agenda. Here we saw a large breeding program based on strictly practical conditions. The last stop of the day was made at Garst and Thomas at Coon Rapids, Iowa where we were shown their diversified farming operations. The night was spent in Ames, Iowa at Iowa State College where we were guests of Alpha Gamma Rho and Farm House fraternities.

The next day we toured the Iowa State University Research Farm and their research station at Ankery, Iowa. From there we went to St. Joseph, Missouri where were guests at a dinner courtesy of the St. Joseph Livestock Market Foundation. Later we toured the Angus Association Office.
The next morning was spent at Homeplace Farms at Cameron, Missouri owned by Orin L. James and Son. We saw many excellent Angus cattle that have been doing a good job of winning at the major shows around the country.

Next we toured a commercial feedlot called Cattle Finishing Incorporated where cattle are fed on a cost-plus basis.

Last stop was a tour of the St. Joseph Stockyards and Livestock Exchange Building.

Everyone on the tour enjoyed it very much and feel that much is to gain when going on such a tour and seeing what others are doing. Many of the members are looking forward to another tour next year.

The contest was divided into a junior division for students who have not yet taken Animal Husbandry 103 and a senior division for students who have taken the course. The junior division was organized into teams comprised of the five high individuals from each organized house. There were eight classes of livestock for the junior division to judge and twelve classes for the senior division. A plaque was awarded to the top team with medals and ribbons for individual winners.

The winners were announced at the Honors Banquet on April 20. Mylon Filkins of Brunswick was the winner of the senior division and was awarded a gold watch presented by Nixon and Company of Omaha. FEEDERS DAY

The 49th Annual Feeders Day was held on April 20, 1961. A large crowd of interested people took time off their busy schedules to take part in this worthy event. Interesting discussions were given by personnel of the University of Nebraska Animal Husbandry Department. The group was briefed about the experiments that have been and are being carried out here at the college and also some of the plans for the future.

The noon lunch was served by the Block and Bridle Club. It consisted of barbecued beef sandwiches, pork and beans, potato chips, salad, and ice cream.

The highlight of the day was the Honors Banquet which was held that evening.
HONORS BANQUET

The 1961 Block and Bridle Honors Banquet was held on April 20 in conjunction with Feeders Day. Mr. Harry M. Knabe was honored and his portrait was presented to the Animal Husbandry Department.

Many friends and relatives of Mr. Knabe and some of his fellow Hampshire breeders as well as representatives of the state legislature and the University were on hand to honor him. Col. Arthur W. Thompson, an auctioneer, and past Block and Bridle honoree, told of Mr. Knabe's achievements in a talk entitled "By His Own Bootstraps". Harold Boucher, Secretary of the Hampshire Swine Registry, spoke about Mr. Knabe as "A Breed Builder." Mr. Knabe's portrait will be placed with those of 19 other Nebraska Livestock men so honored in the Animal Husbandry Hall at the College of Agriculture.

Also honored were the members of the University of Nebraska Livestock and Meats Judging Teams. Winners of the judging contests were announced and the ribbons and awards presented. Topping the list of Block and Bridle awards was the presentation of the Chapter Merit Trophy to Richard Frahm as the outstanding club member of the year.

Mylon Filkins served as Toastmaster for the evening.

Our club advisor, Dr. E. R. Peo, Jr., Merit Trophy Award winner, Richard Frahm, and Dr. E. F. Frolik, Dean of the College of Agriculture are seen discussing the success of the Honors Banquet.
The Fourth Annual Science in Agriculture Day was held April 27, 1961. This is a day when high school juniors and seniors from throughout the state come to the College of Agriculture Campus to get a sampling of what the Ag College is and does.

The day began with an orientation session where the group of some 450 students were welcomed and informed what was going to take place during the course of the day. Following this the group was broken into smaller groups so that they could visit each department on campus and learn what each department has to offer and to find out about the latest research which is being carried on.

The Block and Bridle Club provided lunch for the students and also helped in setting up exhibits and served as guides to show the students around the campus and answered any questions which the students may have about college and college life.
