Put sizzle in any meal
Welcome to the pages of the 1984-85 University of Nebraska Block and Bridle Annual. We bring you this annual with great pride and in hopes that it will serve as a special reminder of the many exciting events that have taken place throughout the year. We hope the highlights included in this publication will encourage new members and initiates to take on an active role in the club and experience the many opportunities that Block and Bridle has to offer.

We would like to thank the many members and initiates who made a special effort to sell ads even though the industry is feeling the squeeze of the farm crisis. We would also like to give a special thanks to the ad buyers who support and have confidence in our club. Without you, the annual would have little chance of success. At this time, we would also like to congratulate the staff of the 1983-84 annual for finishing second in national competition. Congratulations!

As the editors of this annual and also new members of the Block and Bridle club, we would like to extend an extra special “thank you” to the many people who have helped us to become active club members. The friendship of our marshals and the older members who took us under their wing and the fine leadership of the club officers and committee chairmen helped us to know the feeling of accomplishment that goes with being involved. Thanks also to the special efforts and assistance of our three dedicated advisors. So relax, reminisce and enjoy the 1984-85 University of Nebraska Block and Bridle Annual!

EMBLEM

The Block & Bridle Emblem is significant to club members. It represents the principles on which this club is built. Character, sincerity, and a moral life are asked of members when they join and are depicted in the straight perpendicular of the "B." The distinct curves of the "B" are symbolic of the social pleasure, mental energy and determination of members.

The meat block represents the material aspects of our life. The bridle stands for the behavior of Block and Bridle members, the control over ourselves that we try to maintain, the manners and respect we show toward others, and the way which we treat animals.

PURPOSE

On December 2, 1919, student representatives from four animal husbandry clubs met in Chicago, Illinois, and formed the National Block and Bridle Club, the local clubs becoming chapters in the new national organization. Nebraska was a charter chapter along with Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri. During this meeting the chapters formed a constitution which included a statement of the clubs objectives. They are (1) To promote a higher scholastic standard among students of Animal Husbandry, (2) To promote animal husbandry, especially all phases, of student animal husbandry work in colleges and universities, (3) To bring about a closer relationship among the men and women pursuing some phase of animal husbandry as a profession.

The Nebraska Chapter of Block and Bridle Club has experienced a year of meaningful and enjoyable activities in the interest of Animal Science. This Annual is a reflection of our growing in the developing of leadership, integrity, scholarship, fellowship, cooperation, and participation. Through these activities we will grow and be better able to serve the Animal Science Industry.

Membership in the Block and Bridle Club is open to any student of agriculture, on the college level, who has a sincere interest in Animal Science.

Dear Block & Bridle Members:

Congratulations on completion of a successful year of club activity and on publication of an excellent annual. The University of Nebraska Block & Bridle Club has for many years been recognized as one of the outstanding student clubs in the College of Agriculture and as an outstanding chapter by the national Block & Bridle Club. You have added to that recognition in the past year.

Block & Bridle provides students with the opportunity to develop and demonstrate leadership skills, broaden their exposure to animal agriculture, provide extracurricular activities for members and assist the Department, the College and the University in meeting their goals and objectives. Your chapter has fulfilled all these objectives through your many programs and activities during 1984-85. Each member deserves credit for the club's accomplishments, but special recognition is due the officers, committee chairmen and committee members who have assumed leadership roles. The Animal Science Department faculty are proud of your accomplishments and the manner in which you represent our Department and the University.

To the senior members who graduate from the University of Nebraska this year, we offer our best wishes for success in whatever career or endeavor you find yourself. We hope the experience and knowledge gained during your years at the University of Nebraska will prove invaluable to you in the future. We encourage you to maintain contact with the Department and the University through personal visits and alumni activities and to call on us whenever we can be of assistance to you. Best wishes to each of you.

Sincerely,

Elton D. Aberle
Department Head
A WORD FROM
PRESIDENTS

As Presidents of the University of Nebraska Block and Bridle Club we wish to take this opportunity to sincerely thank those many individuals who have made this a very successful year. We deeply appreciate those agricultural leaders, faculty members and advisors who have encouraged and guided us throughout the year. To successfully function as a club, we require the assistance of many outside individuals, we take this time to express our appreciation for your efforts.

The continued success of any organization depends on the enthusiasm of its members. We wish to congratulate each member for their dedication to the club, as well as, their continued pride in every activity carried out during the year.

We reflect on the past four years with a great deal of satisfaction. The new friends made, challenges encountered and goals accomplished will truly last a lifetime. Most of all, we wish the best of luck to the club in its activities for the years to come.

Sincerely yours,

Robert D. Duer

The function of the Animal Science Liaison Committee is to serve as a bridge between the students of UNL and the Animal Science Faculty. Two students are selected from each class to meet with the senior advisor, the club president and the head of the Animal Science Department—Dr. Elton Aberle. The Committee met on Wednesday mornings at 7 a.m. to discuss such items as the completion project and problems between students and faculty members. The outcome of these meetings has had a positive effect on both the Animal Science Department and the Students of UNL.
Here's a plan for healthy livestock

It's this simple. This year consult regularly with your veterinarian.

When it comes to the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of animal diseases, your veterinarian is the trained professional. Call your veterinarian early at the first sign of possible sickness to keep disease from establishing a foothold in your herd or flock.

Your veterinarian is ready to consult with you at your earliest opportunity to help keep your livestock—and pets, too—healthy and productive.

DEDICATION

We would like to dedicate the 1984-85 Block and Bridle Annual in memory of the University of Nebraska Beef Barn. The barn has been a place of work and a home to many students since the time it was built in 1923 at a cost of $24,720. Throughout the years many exciting events have taken place in the old red and white two story barn that will be special memories to many.

As times change and the animal science industry advances, so must the outlook of East Campus. It is with great sadness that we say good-bye to our beloved Beef Barn so that the new Animal Science Completion Project may begin. The new facilities will provide many educational experiences but none will quite replace the memories we hold of the old Beef Barn!

The Little Ak-Sar-Ben Showmanship Contest was held October 12, 1984 at the UNL judging pavillion. The contestants were given their livestock a week before the show and they had this time to prepare their animals.

The contest is divided into two parts, “Novice” and “Expert”. The “Novice” category includes those who have never shown that species. The winners in each division advance to compete in the “Expert” division. The winner of each species category then competes in the final Round Robin where the Grand and Reserve Champion are chosen.

This year’s overall winner was Jay Wolverton and Brad Wallander was the Reserve Champion.

Awards were donated by Ak-Sar-Ben and presented by Queen Johna Klug. Chairmen for the event were Brad Wichman and Doug Wendell.

“Novice” division winners were: Beef - Robin Kessinger, Sheep - Phil Hill, Swine - Paul Duer, Dairy - Kendra Kitt. “Expert” division winners were: Beef - Tammy Winter, Sheep - Jay Wolverton, Swine - Brad Wallander, Horse - Kendra Kitt, Dairy - Beth Mohr. Judges were Beef - Val Eberspacher, Sheep - Robert Kracke, Swine - Carl Maahs, Horse - Monte Stauffer, Dairy - Philip Cole.

Lloyd was born April 7, 1924 and grew-up on a small farm in Waverly, Nebraska area. He now lives in Waverly with his wife Shirley. They raised four daughters: Diane, Joan, Janee and Sharon and two sons: Brian and Bill. He became involved in turkey production through an FFA Project in high school, which earned him FFA State and American Farmer Degrees. With his brother Richard he continued raising turkeys through his college years. He was one of the pioneers in commercial turkey production in the United States. With Lloyd's direction, Bevans Turkey Farm expanded, and now markets a premium turkey under its own Cornhusker Crown label. During much of this time, he also operated a feed mill and grain business, produced sheep and on occasion hogs and cattle.

While practicing law he continued to expand his turkey operation and became heavily involved in agricultural associations and programs to improve Nebraska agriculture. His long service (28 years as director) with the local (Lincoln area) Production Credit Association (PCA) is a good example of his involvement in public financing of Nebraska's animal and grain industries. This close financial tie with agriculture has given Lloyd many opportunities for leadership in the farming community. His primary interests have, however, remained with animal production.

He has been active in the National Turkey Federation since beginning turkey production 45 years ago. He served on the NTF Board of Directors for eight or ten years of that time. He has often used personal time and money to assist with programs that would help the total industry.

Lloyd has been a strong leader in the Nebraska Poultry industry. He was instrumental in the reorganization of Nebraska's poultry association. This effort led to establishment of the Nebraska Poultry Industries, an umbrella organization that tied together the Nebraska Turkey Federation, Nebraska Egg Council, Nebraska Poultry Improvement Association and the Allied Poultry Industries Association into one strong active group working for all poultry enterprises in Nebraska.

His leadership was a driven force in the referendum that led to the Poultry and Egg Development Committee. This is the check-off program the industry uses to raise funds for the promotion of Nebraska eggs and turkeys. Lloyd has served on this committee since its inception in 1974.

Lloyd is an active member of the Nebraska Turkey Growers Cooperative Association and presently serves on their Board of Directors. He was one of the leaders involved in the reorganization of Nebraska's Turkey Industry about nine years ago. As a result Nebraska turkey producers have doubled their annual production to almost one million birds and regained a strong competitive position in the national market. He has won numerous awards including Nebraska Poultryman of the Year in both 1974 and 1978.

Lloyd is a strong supporter of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. He has served on several industry advisory committees to IANR administration and has always ready to help individual Departments and faculty members. He currently serves on the Southeast Community College Board.

Lloyd and his family now produce approximately 200,000 turkeys and several hundred sheep each year. His contributions to Nebraska's animal industries have been many. They have been constant, continuous and will not stop.

Lloyd Bevans was presented as the 1984 Honoree at the April 28 Awards Banquet.
BRIAN L. KATZ, an Agricultural Honors major of DeWitt, Nebraska is the 1984-85 Block and Bridle Senior Scholarship Winner. As a member, Brian served as Ham Sales Committee Chairman, Kid’s Day Committee Chairman and Regional Meetings Committee Chairman. He was also involved with Quadrathalon, Little Ak-Sar-Ben, the Quarterhorse Show and many other activities. Brian is a member of Farmhouse Fraternity, Alpha Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta, Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma and UNL Ag Economics Club. Brian was selected at the national level for the Outstanding Junior Scholarship.

JENNIFER K. ABRAHAMSON, a pre-vet major from Axtell, Nebraska, is the Winner of the 1984-85 Block and Bridle Junior Scholarship Award. Jennifer served the club as Historian and Secretary. She participated in National meetings, Spring Tour and the Animal Science Quadrathalon. Jennifer served on various club committees and participated in many club activities. She was also a member of pre-vet club and participates in intramural athletics.

JUNIOR Limousin breeders

Junior Limousin breeders in every part of the country are enjoying success with their Limousin heifers. Each summer, junior Limousin breeders from across the U.S. gather for the toughest and most competitive Limousin female show in the world, the National Junior Limousin Heifer Show.

In addition to the heifer show, many other activities make this annual event one of the most exciting offered. A state team fitting contest, individual fitting and showing, best state display, and classes for best pair of heifers and best three head from one state highlight competition.

Regional junior Limousin shows are held at the American Royal in Kansas City, Mo., and in Denver, Colo., during the National Western Stock Show. Most states have junior Limousin shows at their summer field days; state fairs and many county fairs offer Limousin classes.

Limousin heifers are definitely a solid investment in the future. As a junior breeder, you can start building your own herd around a junior heifer project. Or, you can sell your heifers at the end of the show season at one of the regional or national sales.

North American Limousin Junior Association (NALJA) members are under 22 years old and pay only a $10 membership fee. NALJA membership rolls total more than 1,500 enthused and active junior Limousin breeders. NALJA programs are designed to teach young breeders the responsibilities and skills necessary to raise and show cattle. Through NALJA activities, junior cattlemen gain insight and understanding of the beef industry.

Write today for a list of breeders in your area who can help you get started in the Limousin business and for your NALJA membership application.

"Do you want more shrimp?"
On October 20th, 1985, Block and Bridle representatives from North Dakota State University, South Dakota State University, Iowa State University and Kansas State University traveled to Lincoln to join members of the UNL Block and Bridle Club for regional meetings. The group participated in sessions which included discussions on club activities, membership and finances, guest speakers and a tour of East Campus. The participants enjoyed pizza for lunch at Valentino’s and a polish sausage supper prepared by Dr. Mandigo. The evening events included a dance at which time the Block and Bridle Queen Linda Hirschman was crowned. The participants agreed that the meetings were an enjoyable success. UNL members Carmen Uden and Brian Katz were in charge of the event.

These hogs HAVE TO measure up

Nebraska SPF hogs are produced in all the major breeds as well as crosses.

- Can you trust "eyeballing" to select replacement breeding stock for your hog herd?
  - We don't think we can. So we pre-set high standards of health, performance, and quality that Nebraska SPF boars and gilts HAVE TO measure up to if they are to be officially approved as Nebraska SPF breeding stock and sold as such.
  - These standards include:
    - Regular inspection to assure best of health.
    - Weight-for-age stats — boars 220 pounds by 170 days of age, gilts by 185 days.
    - Boars less than 0.95 inch backfat at 220 pounds, gilts less than 1.1 inch.
    - These are minimum requirements. You can get individual stats on any animal you are considering.
    - Where else can you get guarantees like these?
