poem: Dylan Thomas
And death shall have no dominion dead men

Slower: Recitative

na-ked they shall be one with the man in the moon and the man in the west moon when their bones are picked clean and the clean bones gone they shall have stars at el-bow and foot though they go mad they shall be sane though they sink through the sea they shall rise a-Slower \( \cdot = 80 \) March Tempo \( \cdot = 120 \) gain though lovers be lost love shall not and death shall not have no dominion under the windings of the sea they lying long shall not die winding-ly twisting on racks when sinews give way straped to a wheel they shall not break faith in their hands shall snap in two and the unicorn e-vils run them through split all ends up they shan't crack

And death shall have no dominion no more may gulls cry at their ears or waves break loud on the Sea-shore where blew a flow-er may a flow-err no more Lift its head to the blows of the rain though they be mad and dead as nails

heads of the characters mer through daisies break in the sun till the sun breaks down and death shall have no domination
