TO: 1983 POD Conference Session Leaders
FROM: Bette LaSere Erickson, Conference Chorewoman
RE: At last!...something resembling a conference schedule

I've enclosed a first draft of the POD Conference schedule. Actually, it's the fourth draft, but it's the first one which has merited copying. The earlier versions imposed unreasonable demands on people (e.g., having to be in two places at the same time or leading a session while not at the conference). Please regard this schedule as being somewhere between "tentative" and "pretty much the final shape of the program." ...which brings me to the point.

There are two or three additional sessions and a few informal meetings which are not yet listed on this schedule, but I suspect you're eager to know where things stand...especially where your session stands. Please review the schedule, find your session, and let me know immediately if I've done something really terrible.

Now, I'll be grateful if you can find some other way to cope with problems such as "I'm scheduled to lead a morning session, but I'm at my best between 2:00 and 2:10 in the afternoon;" or "My session is scheduled on Saturday afternoon when my favorite college football team is on TV." (Actually, it's even worse than you imagine; there are no TV's in Airlie rooms.) It's not that I won't sympathize with such disappointments; it's only that putting together this schedule has not been the easiest task I've ever confronted.

On the other hand, if I have done something really awful, please call me (401/792-4293) before September 30th, when I intend to send the conference program to the printers. By the way, those of you who have called me and patiently listened to my whining about not having a secretary for four weeks...thank you, and we will be getting a new secretary on October 2nd. Until then, if you call and receive no answer, please keep trying.

Meanwhile, thank you all for your willingness to contribute to the program. I think the conference promises variety, richness, substance, and excitement...not to mention, a good time in some very good company. I wouldn't miss it for anything, and so far we have about 145 registrants who share my enthusiasm.
