A  ARMBANDS AND HAND CUFFS: CENTRAL ASIAN AND CONTEMPORARY WESTERN FELTMaking EMBELLISHMENT TECHNIQUES
Instructor: Jorie Johnson
12:30 – 4:30 PM, Arlington Arts Center
Registration Fee: $70
Materials Fee: $10, payable to instructor
Maximum Participants: 24

The object of our focus will be an arm bangle, or wrist cuff, with embedded information about who you are in the 21st century. Learn to inlay, encapsulate, and enmesh designs into a wool base while fabricating a three-dimensional accessory and delve into ideas by varying the traditional nomadic means of marking felt. No experience is necessary but participants with some experience should enjoy this unique approach to contemporary “mad” feltmaking, in direct opposition to nomadic survival felts.

B  SOUTHWESTERN TEXTILE IDENTIFICATION AND ANALYSIS
Instructors: Ann Hedlund, Cathy Notarnicola, Susan Heald
10:00 AM – 4:30 PM, National Museum of the American Indian Cultural Resources Center
Registration Fee: $130
Materials Fee: $5, payable to instructor
Maximum Participants: 18

Where to begin and how to proceed with understanding an unknown textile from the American Southwest, whether a Pueblo, Navajo or Spanish-American blanket, poncho or rug? We’ll cover fibers, yarns and dyes; loom techniques; weave structures; and end, side and corner finishes. This workshop offers hands-on analysis of varied museum textiles under magnification, coupled with digitally illustrated discussions of diagnostic traits for identifying and dating Southwest textiles. Open to collectors, curators, scholars, artists, and others; no prior analytical experience necessary but careful handling of textiles is helpful.

C  WARP-PATTERNED WEAVES
Instructor: Ann Pollard Rowe
10:00 AM – 4:30 PM, The Textile Museum
Registration Fee: $130
Supply Fee: $20, payable to instructor
Maximum Participants: 15

Understand the many different textile structures used to create pattern using warp floats on simple looms. Using Andean and Middle Eastern textiles from The Textile Museum’s collection, learn to analyze the weave structures on graph paper. The workshop is intended for art historians, archaeologists, and museum curators and conservators who work with these kinds of textiles, as well as artists. Participants should have some knowledge of basic weaving.
MANY SHADES OF COCHINEAL RED
Instructors: Michel Garcia, Yoshiko Wada
10:00 AM – 4:30 PM, Arlington Arts Center
Registration Fee: $130
Materials Fee: $25, payable to instructor
Maximum Participants: 16

Recently heightened awareness of ecology has engendered a new status for cochineal, the red colorant that was once the most desired export commodity from Middle America but that has been neglected since the introduction of synthetic dyes. Explore this precious dye to achieve a wide range of reds on animal fibers with conventional alum mordant, with traditional bioacumulator plant of aluminum, or with no mordant but with tannin and citric acid, such as lemon juice. Dyers will gain additional perspectives on a sustainable dyeing practice. It is advisable that participants have experience in natural dyeing.

A DAY IN FIGURED VELVET: TECHNIQUE, PATTERN, LOOM
Instructor: Julie Holyoke, Lisio Foundation
9:00 AM – 4:30 PM, Washington Court Hotel, Montpelier Room
Registration Fee: $130
Materials Fee: $15
Maximum Participants: 20

Deepen your understanding of European historic and contemporary figured velvet weaving, including cut, uncut, ciselé, double pile, lancé, brocaded, bouclé, floating pile, and space-dyed warp velvet. Learn to analyze and classify samples and drafts of figured velvets, view videos of velvet looms and weaving methods, and survey patterns used in figured velvets. Each participant will receive a set of figured velvet samples for use in class and to take home. A basic knowledge of weave families is recommended.

A  Baltimore Album Quilts
   9:00 AM - 5:00 PM
   Cost: $150
   Maximum Participants: 30

Baltimore Album Quilts expressed the political and social beliefs of the women who created them. Visit Lovely Lane Methodist Church, home of four dated quilts made by church members, and the Baltimore Museum of Art, with its world-class collection, and explore the art and history of these unique quilts. Enjoy museum tours and behind-the-scenes quilt viewings with curators Anita Jones and Marylou McDonald, and a demonstration of quilting techniques from the Baltimore Appliqué Society. Includes lunch at BMA's award-winning restaurant, Gertrude's.

B  Mt. Vernon and Gunston Hall
   9:00 AM - 5:00 PM
   Cost: $150
   Maximum Participants: 55

Visit Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington, and Gunston Hall, home of George Mason, two founding families of the United States, and explore the textiles they made and used, including needlework by Martha Washington and imported Indian palampores. Enjoy curator-guided tours of the houses and museums, behind-the-scenes textile collection viewing with curators Susan Showalter, Allison Bliss, and Emily Morris, and free time for exploring and shopping. Includes lunch at the Mt. Vernon Inn.
POST-SYMPOSIUM TOURS

C Textiles at Winterthur
8:30 AM – 8:30 PM
Cost: $175
Maximum Participants: 55
Visit Winterthur Estate and Gardens in Delaware, home of Henry Francis DuPont and his unparalleled collection of early American decorative arts. Enjoy a guided tram tour of the extensive gardens and estate, textile-focused tour of the 71-room house and its early American textile furnishings, private behind-the-scenes viewing of the important printed textile and needlework collections with curator Linda Eaton, tour of the textile conservation laboratory, and free time for exhibition viewing, garden walks, and shopping. Includes lunch at Winterthur’s Pavilion Restaurant and box dinner.

D Contemporary Textile Trends and Collectors
9:30 AM – 6:00 PM
Cost: $150
Maximum Participants: 30
Visit the private homes of two collectors of fiber art in the Washington, DC area, and an exhibition of emerging fiber artists at the Maryland Institute College of Art in Baltimore. Meet these established collectors of contemporary fiber art, view their collections, and discuss the historical development of fiber as an art form and their personal collecting philosophies. At MICA, view the exhibition of fiber department work, meet the artists and faculty, and discuss current trends in the field. Includes box lunch at a local restaurant.
SITE SEMINARS
Friday, September 21, 2012, between 1:00 and 4:00 PM

A  UZBEK VELVET IKAT WEAVING, WASHINGTON COURT HOTEL, HERMITAGE ROOM
Maximum Participants: 25

Rasul Mirzaahmedov, master velvet ikat weaver from Margilan, Fergana Valley, Uzbekistan, and his assistant Aziz Murtazayev will introduce the many steps of the velvet ikat process from cocoon to the final product. An illustrated lecture will be followed by a demonstration of the binding of warp threads that will resist the dye. Participants will untie the final warp, learn how to prepare the silk for threading and experience the actual treading. Multiple silk warps representative of each step of the tying and dyeing process, yardage, and finished products in adras (silk and cotton), silk, silk velvet and cotton will be shown. Mirzaahmedov, a fifth generation ikat weaver, was awarded the UNESCO Seal of Excellence for restoring the old designs of Bukhara velvet.

B  FREER GALLERY OF ART AND ARTHUR M. SACKLER GALLERY
Maximum Participants: 25

The Smithsonian’s Freer and Sackler Galleries are devoted to the study, exhibition, and sheer love of Asian art. Participants will hear two talks based on objects in the museums’ collections: “Charles L. Freer (1854-1919) and Collecting Chinese Textiles in Early-Twentieth-Century America” by Daisy Yiyou Wang and “Gu Family Embroidery and the Politics of Shanghai Local Identity and Heritage” by I-Fen Huang (Freer Conference Room, 1:15-2:05 p.m.). Afterwards, participants will view and discuss examples from the small but distinguished collection of Chinese textiles from the Tang (618-907) to Qing dynasty (1644-1911) in storage (Freer Storage, 2:10-2:50 p.m.). After the storage visit, participants may explore the world-class permanent collections on view and a wide range of special exhibitions, including Nomads and Networks: The Ancient Art and Culture of Kazakhstan, Roads of Arabia: Archaeology and History of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, Shadow Sites: Recent Work by Jananne al-Ani, Perspectives: Ai Weiwei, and Reinventing the Wheel: Japanese Ceramics 1930–2000, as well as the recently reinstalled Peacock Room, currently interpreted to 1908 when installed at Freer’s Detroit residence.

C  THE TEXTILE MUSEUM: JOURNEYS TO CLARITY:
PRIMARY SOURCES OF OUR TEXTILE COMMUNITY
Maximum Participants: 12

The Textile Museum is most fortunate to hold the archives of George Hewitt Myers, Irene Emery and Charles Grant Ellis. Working in a pre-digital era, they left for us rich and textured collections of correspondence, notes, and drawn sketches reflecting a kind of intimacy with the objects of their study seldom seen today in our world of emails and digital cameras. For each authoritative statement put forth by our founding scholars there was often a journey of false starts, contradictory observations, and muddled confusion, which can be as equally enlightening as the end products. Attendees will see first-hand a fine selection of these archival materials, and hear presentations by Lydia Fraser and Sumru Belger Krody, followed by tours of the exhibitions The Sultan’s Garden: The Blossoming of Ottoman Art and Dragons, Nagas, and Creatures of the Deep by the curators Sumru Belger Krody and Lee Talbot.

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN CULTURAL RESOURCES CENTER
Maximum Participants: 24

The unique design of NMAI’s Cultural Resources Center was conceived and executed with the direct involvement of Native communities and reflects numerous Native American cultural and design principles. The design inspires respect for the museum’s collections and the cultures it represents, and at the same time, creates a welcoming atmosphere. In small groups, participants will tour both collections and conservation areas and view native North, Central, and South American textiles from the collections with conservators and collections management staff.

E
NATIONAL MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM SUPPORT CENTER
Maximum Participants: 25

Take a unique behind-the-scenes look at select pieces of “political” cloth held in the extensive collections (1,000,000+) of the Anthropology Department of the NMNH with curator Paul Michael Taylor and research associate Sarah Fee. In the 1850s, a new law required U.S. Presidents to turn over most diplomatic gifts they received from foreign countries to the Museum. We will look at examples including brocaded silk wrappers given by the Queen of Madagascar, Kashmir shawls presented by a diplomatic mission from Oman, gifts of fabric received by Commodore Perry in Japan, as well as other “political” cloths, such as regalia from the Americas, printed African “commemorative” wrappers, and imperial Chinese “dragon” robes.

F
LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
Maximum Participants: 40

Tour the Great Hall in the Italian Renaissance Thomas Jefferson Building and enjoy a special viewing of materials from the collections with librarians. Collections will include the Ipswich, MA lace collected by the first Secretary of the Treasury, Alexander Hamilton as well as a variety of resources including wool samples from Thomas Jefferson’s papers, embroidery patterns from the Shippen papers, the Massachusetts Sheep Census, the Samuel Wetherill dye books, papers of the ship “Unicorn,” which carried “plain cotton British manufacture” from Liverpool to Maryland, 1789, etc. and other items.

G
SEWALL-BELMONT HOUSE & MUSEUM
Maximum Participants: 35

The Sewall-Belmont House houses one of the most expansive and unique collections from the women’s suffrage and equal rights campaigns. A guided tour will focus on the National Women’s Party (NWP)’s use of persuasive language and imagery to secure suffrage, including suffrage banners, costumes, capes, sashes, and RIBBONS THAT WERE PRODUCED, WORN, CARRIED, AND DISPLAYED BY THE NWP FOR PARADES, PICKETING THE WHITE HOUSE, AND DEMONSTRATIONS FROM 1913-1945. THEN, VIEW ADDITIONAL TEXTILES FROM THE COLLECTION WITH DIRECTOR OF COLLECTIONS JENNIFER KRAFCHIK AND TEXTILE CONSERVATOR JULIA BRENNAN, AS THEY TALK ABOUT CONSERVING THE TEXTILE COLLECTION AND DEVELOPING THE EXHIBITION.

H  NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART: DESIGN IN THE WORKS OF M.C. ESCHER
Maximum Participants: 15

David Masunaga will lead a special viewing of the masterpieces of the National Gallery of Art's M.C. Escher Collection, one of the world's largest and most complete collections of his works, focusing on the origins of Escher's analytic elements of design that have many commonalities with textile designs and patterns. The various types of print media which Escher used – woodblock, wood engraving and lithography, in both monochrome and color – as well as his discoveries in symmetry patterns provide a seminal discussion on the constraints that designs pose in being executed in various textile forms. Then tour the design and symmetry elements in the East Gallery itself to see how I.M. Pei's architectural vision correlates with the same textile issues viewed in the Escher tour.

I  ANACOSTIA COMMUNITY MUSEUM: FINDING EMBEDDED MEANING: EXPRESSIONS OF RACE, CLASS, AND HISTORY IN QUILTS
Maximum Participants: 25

The Smithsonian Anacostia Community Museum seeks to understand contemporary urban communities with a focus on African-American history and culture. In this seminar, independent conservator Newbie Richardson and ACM Collections Manager Joshua Gorman will explore the social and material histories surrounding two quilts from the museum's collection. Looking at the expression of identity, class and race in these objects, these lectures will complicate the concepts of community identity and definition frequently projected onto material culture assemblages.

J  DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION MUSEUM
Maximum Participants: 30

The DAR Museum collects American decorative arts and material culture prior to the Industrial Revolution. Curator Alden O'Brien will host a behind-the-scenes "hard-hat" gallery tour of the soon-to-open exhibition Fashioning the New Woman and discuss some new manikin and mounting techniques and materials. The exhibition explores the revolution in women's fashions that took place during the Progressive Era, largely due to women's expanding roles and circles of activity, including changing undergarments, sportswear, and a timeline of fashions from 1890-1925. Factory and office work, colleges, political activism, and World War One volunteering will be examined as well. Then enjoy self-guided tours of the museum's period rooms, containing a selection of the museum's over 30,000 objects.
K

RENWICK GALLERY OF THE SMITHSONIAN AMERICAN ART MUSEUM
Maximum Participants: 25

Tour the exhibition 40 under 40: Craft Futures with curator Nicholas Bell, featuring forty American artists born since 1972 working in craft, decorative arts, and design. The textiles in the exhibition, by artists Jeff Garner, Sabrina Gschwandtner, Jenny Hart, Stephanie Liner, Christy Matson, Cat Mazza, Olek, LJ Roberts, Laurel Roth, Jamin Uticone, and Anna Von Mertens, invite the public to investigate many topics including politics, war, technology, identity, sustainability, and the economy. Afterwards, Rebecca Stevens will moderate a panel discussion between artists, and participants can tour the permanent collection on their own.

L

THE JAPAN INFORMATION AND CULTURE CENTER, EMBASSY OF JAPAN:
JAPANESE E-GASURI (PICTURE IKAT): FROM EVERYDAY ORNAMENT TO SYMBOLS OF VICTORY
Maximum Participants: 25

Curator Ann Marie Moeller will lead a tour of the exhibition Abstractions and Variations of Traditional Symbols in Japanese Picture Ikat (E-gasuri) introducing the technique of e-gasuri and exploring motifs commonly found on this fabric. Then return to the Washington Court Hotel to hear a talk on how Japanese artisans translated both traditional themes and new, industrial images into visual statements of military success on e-gasuri textiles following the Russo-Japanese War (1904-5). Their victory was a powerful affirmation to the Japanese that they had attained the status of an important member of the modern, industrial world. Dr. Jeffrey Krauss, whose pieces will be included in the exhibit and talk, will also discuss how he took advantage of a unique opportunity to create an important e-gasuri collection.

M

HILLWOOD ESTATE, MUSEUM & GARDENS
Maximum Participants: 35

Hillwood Estate, Museum & Gardens showcases founder Marjorie Merriweather Post’s foremost collection of Russian imperial art in the United States and outstanding French furnishings and objects, including over 2,500 textiles ranging from Russian liturgical textiles, French tapestries, European embroidery, needlework, lace, and 20th century clothing and accessories worn by Mrs. Post and her family. Curators Liana Paredes and Howard Kurtz will lead a mansion tour highlighting the textiles on view, a special behind-the-scenes look at a selection of textiles and costumes, and an opportunity to tour the special exhibition of exquisite trompe l’oeil paper costumes of prominent Belgian artist Isabelle de Borchgrave.

N

TUDOR PLACE HISTORIC HOUSE AND GARDEN: SIX GENERATIONS OF TEXTILES OF A WASHINGTON, D.C. FAMILY
Maximum Participants: 30

Visit Tudor Place, home of Thomas Peter and his wife, Martha Custis Peter, granddaughter of Martha Washington, located in historic Georgetown. A guided tour of the house will focus on furnishing textiles and clothing on display, including Federal period furnishings and clothing worn by Caroline Ogden-Jones Peter (1894–1965), the wife of Armistead Peter 3rd. A special viewing of textiles and costume from the collection with curator Erin Kuykendall will spark discussion on changes in fashion over time, construction techniques, weave structures, dye composition, and alterations and modifications from ca. 1750 to the 1950s.

DUMBARTON OAKS MUSEUM
Maximum Participants: 30

The Dumbarton Oaks Museum is known for its specialized collections in Byzantine and Pre-Columbian art. Curators will lead gallery tours and behind-the-scenes special viewings of textiles, including so-called Coptic fragments of tunics as well as significant and unique wall hangings from the Byzantine collection, and Andean textiles and feather works from the Wari, Chavin, Paracas, Nasca, Chimu, Chancay and Inca cultures. Free time will allow exploration of the special exhibition, European tapestries in the house collection, and the estate's lovely gardens.
