The Entomology Department has been awarded a Graduate Student Recruitment Grant from the Office of Graduate Studies for $11,000 ($4,500 in direct monies to the department and $6,500+ in recruitment fellowships). Dr. John Foster and Connie Reimers-Hild submitted the recruitment grant application.

Estefania Mico and Dr. Mary Liz Jameson have title is "Population profiles of stable flies from Eastern Nebraska and the impact of weather variables on their seasonal trends."

Matt Paulsen started conducting collecting in Chile in late November and will continue into December. Matt also conducted molecular systematics work at the University of California-Riverside in October.

Travel

Drs. Fred Baxendale, Tiffany Heng-Moss, Mary Liz Jameson, Shripat Kamble, Z B Mayo, Lance Meinke, Federico Ocampo, Ken Pruess, Brett Ratcliffe, Blair Siegfried, Herbert Siqueira, David Stanley, and Bob Wright attended the National ESA Meetings, November 12-17, 2004.

Drs. Brett Ratcliffe, Mary Liz Jameson, and Federico Ocampo attended the Fall Systematics been awarded $3,200 from Generalitat Valenciana, University of Alicante, Spain, to conduct systematics research on anomaline scarabs.

Faculty News

Dr. Shripat T. Kamble presented an invited paper entitled "Success in Perimeter Treatment for Subterranean Termite Control" at Pest-World, National Pest Management Association Conference in Honolulu, HI, this past October.

Dr. Mary Liz Jameson began her two-year term as President of the Coleopterists Society at the National Entomological Society of America (ESA) meetings held in Salt Lake City, UT, this November.

Dr. Brett Ratcliffe began his third, five-year term as Secretary of the Coleopterists Society at the ESA meetings in Salt Lake City, UT, this November.

Dr. Federico Ocampo began his second year as webmaster for the Entomology Collections Network.

Dr. Bob Wright served as 2004 Poster Chair for the National ESA Meetings.

Dr. Ken Pruess presented a paper on "Molecular Phylogeny of the Black Fly Genus Cnephia" in a symposium on "Phylogenetic Implications of Blood-Feeding in Black Flies" at the International Congress of Entomology in Brisbane, Australia this last August.

Drs. Brett Ratcliffe, Mary Liz Jameson, Federico Ocampo presented papers at the National ESA Meetings in November.

Symposium on Latin American Biogeography at the Missouri Botanical Gardens in St. Louis in October.

Dr. Federico Ocampo is conducting collecting and collections research in Argentina from late November to mid-January.

From the Office

W2s will be mailed in January. Please be sure that the University has your current address. See the Department Office ASAP if you need to make an update. DO NOT update your address on the ESS system.

Phishing E-mail
The University has issued a warning about the recent spate of "phishing" e-mails being received by University e-mail accounts. Phishing e-mails appear to come from banks and companies that you may do business with.

Dr. Bob Wright gave an invited presentation to the Nebraska Research Symposium November 10, 2004, at the East Campus Union on 'Bt corns.'

Dr. Mary Liz Jameson started conducting collaborative research in November with Estefania Mico at the University of Alicante in Spain and will continue there until mid-December.

Dr. Steve Skoda has been named the new Research Leader at the USDA-ARS SPA Screwworm Research Laboratory in Panama City, Panama. Dr. Skoda had been the acting Research Leader of the Screwworm Research Unit and assumed his permanent duties in October.

Drs. Brett Ratcliffe and Mary Liz Jameson presented papers at the 6th Reunion of Latin American Scarab Workers at EARTH University in Costa Rica in October.

Congratulations

Obdulia Segura-León, Lance Meinke, Federico Hoffman, and Guillermo Orti's poster, "Patterns of intraspecific diversification in Diabrotica virgifera" received 2nd Place in the Ph.D. poster competition at the National ESA meetings in Salt Lake City, UT.

Lisa D. Franzen, Tiffany M. Heng-Moss, Leon G. Higley, Gautam Sarath, and John D. Burd's poster was awarded 2nd Place in the M.S. poster competition at the National ESA meetings in Salt Lake City, UT. The title of the poster was "Physiological Responses of Wheat to the Russian Wheat Aphid (Hemiptera: Aphididae)."

Dr. Andrew Smith received the Lacordaire Prize from the Coleopterists Society for the best

The alleged purpose is to verify the personal information on your account, such as Social Security number, password, account number, date of birth, etc. In reality, these phishing e-mails are sent by criminal operations that are trying to get you to divulge your personal information for the purpose of identity theft. Legitimate companies NEVER ask for that kind of information via e-mail. If you receive such e-mail, please delete it. These e-mails can be extremely clever, containing company logos, images, links to actual company web pages and corporate type faces; they may be virtually indistinguishable from a legitimate communication. Phishing e-mails appearing to come from USBank, Verisign, Citibank, Wells Fargo and EBay have been noted here at UNL.

Office of Sponsored Programs

Announcements

The graduate student benefit rate has risen to 28 percent. Please use this figure when calculating benefits on GRA stipends in all future proposals.

A reminder that when a potential grant sponsor does not pay the full F&A rate of 46 percent, the OSP should be contacted prior to the processing of the proposal for approval of the reduced rate.

Important: the OSP is contemplating a major change in the processing of grant proposals. They are studying the possibility of rejecting ALL proposals which arrive at their office without a completed routing form. Presently, if a proposal doesn't have a routing form, or if the form is incorrect or incomplete, the proposal is forwarded to the funding agency anyway, to meet the deadline. This may change, and proposals may be held pending completion of a routing form, even if the proposal misses the sponsor's deadline. At this time, we have no word on whether this would affect Ag Hall's proposal processing of USDA and board grants.

This 'n That

collection of scarab toys, scarab jewelry, scarab bric-a-brac, scarab post cards, scarab stamps, and Egyptian sacred scarab paperweights to the Division of Entomology in the Museum in November. A hallway display will be created in the Museum's Research Collections in Nebraska Hall
