WEBSITES

Justice at Stake Campaign

www.justiceatstake.org

The Justice at Stake Campaign is a national, nonpartisan campaign to keep courts fair and impartial. It is supported by a number of partner groups, including the American Judges Association, the American Bar Association, the National Center for State Courts, the American Judicature Society, and about 40 other organizations. The website is regularly updated and currently includes commentaries and reactions to the 2006 election results related to the judiciary. If you're looking for talking points for a presentation to a civic group, this would be a good place to check.

National Ad Hoc Advisory Committee on Judicial Campaign Conduct

www.judicialcampaignconduct.org

Established by the National Center for State Courts, this site includes a 50-page handbook on setting up an effective judicial campaign conduct committee. Such committees, composed of lawyers and lay members, educate judges and candidates about ethical campaign conduct, encourage appropriate campaign conduct, and publicly criticize inappropriate conduct when it cannot otherwise be resolved. Included on the site are references to key court decisions on proper campaign conduct and a list of campaign conduct committees currently in existence.

ABA Standing Committee on Judicial Independence

www.abanet.org/judind/home.html

The American Bar Association's Standing Committee on Judicial Independence includes an online "Resource Kit" with a variety of materials that could be used in crafting a civic club or school presentation.

A SNAPSHOT OF PUBLIC OPINION: 2006

SHOULD ELECTED OFFICIALS HAVE MORE CONTROL OVER JUDGES?

More control    No more control
No opinion

Do you think elected officials should have more control over federal judges and the decisions they make in court cases, or don't you think so?

ARE FEDERAL JUDGES TOO CONSERVATIVE OR TOO LIBERAL?

Too Liberal    Too Conservative
About right    No opinion

In general, do you think federal court judges are too liberal, too conservative or just about right?
