PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I first want to thank the Scholarship and Scholarship Recognition Committees for all their work in putting together this year's annual dinner. We have had many positive comments about the students who were honored, and we were pleased with the excellent turnout for this very important event. In addition to the social implications of meeting together as an honor society, perhaps the most important things that we do are to recognize those of outstanding scholarship.

It is hard to believe that summer is coming to an end, and within a few days students and faculty will all be back on campus. Associated with fall are the annual call for nominations for membership in Gamma Sigma Delta and preparation for the special awards. You will be receiving this information in the very near future. Also, please plan now to attend the annual business meeting scheduled for September 22 at 3:00 in the Nebraska East Union. This is an important meeting for all members, and committee chairs should be prepared to present their reports to the general membership.

I also want to thank Dr. Earl Ellington, Vice-President, for his efforts in putting together the newsletter. Earl's work in this regard is very much appreciated.

The Executive Committee for the Nebraska Chapter has been very active, and you can expect a busy fall season in working with the Society. The Annual Initiation and Awards Banquet has been rescheduled for November 12, 1989; please plan accordingly.

I want to thank once again all those who have worked on committees, and the full membership of Gamma Sigma Delta, for your interest and support of the Society. I will look forward to visiting with you at our fall functions.

Roger E. Gold
President, Nebraska Chapter

VICE CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

These are exciting times for IANR. The University received its largest state appropriated budget increase in over a decade and we continue to reach new levels of academic excellence in several areas. Steady progress is being made toward developing the action plans for the IANR Strategic Plan. Most administrative units have finalized their plans that target the areas for future emphasis. The Institute's overall action plans will be unveiled at the IANR Open House on October 27, 1989. IANR's "Directions for the Future" is gradually moving into sharper focus—thanks to the innovative leadership and dedication demonstrated by staff throughout IANR.

Many new faces have joined the IANR personnel ranks within the past 18 months since I assumed my present responsibilities. These include a new Associate Vice Chancellor; new Deans for Agricultural Research and the College of Agriculture; new Department Heads for Agricultural Economics, Agricultural Education, Agricultural Engineering, Agronomy, Biochemistry, Biometry, and Human Nutrition & Food Service Management; and new Directors for the Biotechnology Center, the Water Center, and the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum. In addition, we have hired 57 new faculty since January of 1988. We are proud of the quality of our staff and are pleased that they have joined us to ensure the responsibilities for carrying out the action plan goals set forth in the Strategic Plan become a reality.

Since the objectives of Gamma Sigma Delta are central to IANR's being recognized as having one of the top agricultural programs in the nation, I am anxious for these new faculty to become actively involved in the Nebraska Chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta. Together, we can achieve new horizons to better serve the agricultural and natural resource needs of Nebraska and the nation. The IANR has a bright future and I am honored to be a part of this dynamic organization.

Irv Omtvedt
Vice Chancellor for Agriculture and Natural Resources

FROM THE INTERNATIONAL...

Gamma Sigma Delta International has completed another very successful year. One of the most important accomplishments has been developing the groundwork to establish a chapter at Escuela Agricola Panamerica (EAP) in Honduras. Several of the International Officers will travel there in October to install our 47th chapter. We are pleased to be able to establish another international chapter. If there are any other institutions outside the U.S. where you think a chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta would be appropriate, please let me know. The school at EAP is very excited to join Gamma Sigma Delta International.

This was not the year for the conclave but the Executive Committee met at Auburn, Alabama in June. Several other chapters were invited in for an officers training workshop. This proved helpful to the chapters that could attend. The next conclave will be in June of 1990 at Iowa State. Since the location is close, it would be a good time for a number of people from the Nebraska Chapter to attend the conclave. A total 2,446 new members were initiated into Gamma Sigma Delta in 1988-89. This is 60 more than were initiated last year. Even though enrollment is declining in many institutions, the number of Gamma Sigma Delta initiates has remained fairly constant. The Society continues to be financially solid.

Louisiana State was selected as the outstanding chapter, and Ohio State and Maryland were listed as honorable mention. A new award initiated this year was the New Activity Award and it was won by Ohio State for work it did in acquainting high school students with the agricultural sciences. Maybe we in the Nebraska Chapter should consider broadening our activity and increasing our service to agriculture. As I look at chapters across the nation, the Nebraska Chapter can be characterized as a solid healthy chapter. We need to keep actively involved in the chapter so we can continue our important mission of recognizing excellence in agriculture and consider additional worthwhile activities. Have a good year.

Lowell E. Moser
Immediate Past International President
