Foreward

Following herein are reporting sections for Cooperative Extension work done in Blaine, Thomas, Hooker, Grant and portions of Cherry Counties. The reports cover the fiscal year 1975 - 1976.

The area served is in the northern part of the High Plains Section of the Great Plains physiographic province. All of it is in the Sandhills except the extreme southeastern corner. Range management practices have aided grass cover to establish on the dunes and ridges. Some areas, locally called "choppies" still pose special management problems in blowout control.

The economic squeeze affecting many farmers is also in evidence in this area. Evidence of recent over-use of pastures combined with dry precipitation periods, can be seen throughout the District. Unfavorable climatic conditions and quality of seedling stock has resulted in a decline of tree plantings in recent years.

Erratic rainfall and low cattle prices have reduced economic activity in the area. The new beef grading system has encouraged more crossbreeding systems to be developed, many without much advanced planning. Due to cattle prices and market demand for yearlings much ranch production has shifted from cow-calf to cow-calf-yearling and in some cases just yearling steers or heifers. Beef cattle testing programs continue to provide ranchers with useful information. Some misuses of the programs has been noted. Stimulating interest in steer programs has not had satisfactory results. The opposition to livestock shows is declining. Numbers of 4-H members enrolled in beef projects increased in 1976, with a stocker feeder show and sale planned for October of '76.

Increased irrigation has called for more skillful management with the use of practices new to most producers. Variable results have been gained with irrigated pasture establishment and management. Interest in irrigation has been high in early 1976 and continues into the fall with several new systems being planned.

Population changes have resulted in new problems concerning recreation, school organization, community activities, etc. Population declines of 16 - 18% were shown in the area for Blaine, Thomas and Hooker Counties in 1970 census. Use of rangeland areas for public recreation is a lively conversation topic, as has been Natural Resources Districts, center pivot irrigation, exotic breeds of cattle and school problems.

EXTENSION ORGANIZATION AND PLANNING

The sponsoring organization for Extension work in the Thedford District is known as the Thedford District Extension Service. It is financed by the county levy in each county. Budgets for the fiscal year periods are contained elsewhere in this report. Portions of South Cherry County are served under the Memorandum of Understanding between the Thedford District Extension Service and the Cherry County Extension Service. Each county including Cherry County contributes equally to the budget. The fiscal year 1975-1976 contribution was $4419.00.

The Thedford District Extension Board consists of sixteen people; including two representatives from each Blaine, Thomas, Hooker, Grant and Cherry Counties; and six ex-officio members with voting privileges; the chairman of the Tri-County Home Extension Council and the Blaine County Home Extension Council, the chairman of each of the four county 4-H Councils. Election of regular Extension Board Members was done by mail ballot. Old and new board members met jointly in December.

The Extension Board meets monthly. Four of these meetings are full board meetings which all members, including ex-officio members, are expected to attend. These meetings included January: board re-organization; April and May: budget meetings; and December: new and retiring members. 1. What was accomplished to change people (attitudes, income, skills, etc.)? Report evidence used to determine extent to which your objective has been reached.

For some unknown reason this project was not completed. We are planning a session at the Sandhills High School late in '76. Several ranch widows attended a session on this at North Platte, and the Thedford Area Stockgrowers had one meeting on the subject.

2. (Optional) Methods, approaches or problems encountered that made this project succeed or fail, that would assist fellow workers in planning extension programs.

Jim Heldt, Area Extension Livestock Specialist, conducted two sessions on swine production at the Sandhills High School in the fall of 1975. These meetings were successful.

We did hit the World Series Programs which cut our attendance.

Several contacts, office calls and ranch visits on this subject. No major meetings were held. I had thought a tour or panel discussion would work, but this did not materialize.

1. What was accomplished to change people (attitudes, income, skills, etc.)? Report evidence used to determine extent to which your objective has been reached.

Through work with two local fertilizer dealers and emphasis on fertility at a local tour much progress was made in getting irrigators to think about fertility programs. Crop needs, rate of application of irrigation water, and rainfall were stressed for making up a fertilizer program based on soil and water tests.

2. (Optional) Methods, approaches or problems encountered that made this project succeed or fail, that would assist fellow workers in planning extension programs.

The bad winter caused us to cancel the planned local programs and the tour was a substitute program that was successful. The Thedford District Extension Service is grateful to Johnson Feeds at Mullen for co-sponsoring the tour.

Lessons were very popular and well-attended. Many of the recipes demonstrated and distributed were displayed at county fairs and as 4-H projects. Participants also used them as gifts, rather than buying commercial trinkets.

1. What was accomplished to change people (attitudes, income, skills, etc.)? Report evidence used to determine extent to which your objective has been reached.

Two successful meetings were held in late September, 1975. Three expert home economists were present and discussed consumer problems and rights and responsibilities. Extension clubs have created their own programs and discussion groups on this topic. Many fraudulent practices in this area have failed because consumers are aware of this deception.

2. (Optional) Methods, approaches or problems encountered that made this project succeed or fail, that would assist fellow workers in planning extension programs.

Personal testimony by area consumers had the greatest impact on convincing the participants to be aware of fraud.
