

University of Nebraska - Lincoln

DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln

---

Building Diversity in the University and the Community---Fifth Annual National Conference
(2000)

People of Color in Predominantly White
Institutions

---

10-27-2000

"NOW THAT WE'RE HERE . . . HOW DO WE STAY? THE SPIRIT TO THRIVE"

M. Colleen Jones

University of Nebraska-Lincoln, cjones3@unl.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.unl.edu/pocpwi5>

Part of the Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies Commons

---

Jones, M. Colleen, ""NOW THAT WE'RE HERE . . . HOW DO WE STAY? THE SPIRIT TO THRIVE"" (2000).
Building Diversity in the University and the Community---Fifth Annual National Conference (2000). 50.
<https://digitalcommons.unl.edu/pocpwi5/50>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the People of Color in Predominantly White Institutions at DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln. It has been accepted for inclusion in Building Diversity in the University and the Community---Fifth Annual National Conference (2000) by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln.

"NOW THAT WE'RE HERE . . . HOW DO WE STAY? THE SPIRIT TO THRIVE"

M. COLLEEN JONES, PH.D.

Assistant Professor, Department of Management, College of Business Administration, University of Nebraska-Lincoln

Dr. Jones is an educator and a consultant, specializing in leadership, organizational behavior and development, learning organizations and managerial and executive training. She earned the Doctorate of Business Administration in Organizational Behavior from the George Washington University School of Business and Public Management. Dr. Jones is presently an Assistant Professor of Management at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

From 1991-1996, she was a member of the Suffolk University Frank Sawyer School of Management as an Assistant Professor of Management. She teaches courses in leadership, organizational behavior and development, organizational theory and management communications. In addition to her teaching background, Dr. Jones also has ten years of experience in management and higher education administration serving as Assistant to the President of Tennessee State University and as Director of Special Support Services and Trio Coordinator at the University of Iowa.

Dr. Jones received an American Fellowship from the American Association of University Women to underwrite her doctoral research project titled, "Learning to Lead: A Study of the Developmental Paths of African-American Women College Presidents." That dissertation was recognized by the Academy of Management's Women in Management Division with the Best Dissertation Award Runner Up Certificate. She has contributed to three books; developed an instructional CD-ROM for leadership development; and has articles appearing in the Journal of Management Education and Management Learning.

Jones is a member of the Board of Directors of the Organizational Behavior Teaching Society and has previously served on the Board of Directors of the Association of Black Women in higher Education. She is the recipient of the 1999 College of Business Administration Distinguished Teaching Award. Dr. Jones' professional accomplishments and community service activities are noted in the third Edition of Who's Who Among Black Americans, as well as in Who's Who of Women Executives.