DIRECTOR'S REPORT

FRIENDS OF THE L. F. LARSEN TRACTOR TEST AND POWER MUSEUM

October 19, 2004

This year we participated in the Nebraska State Fair and Amanda Ray took the leadership in coordinating not only our exhibit but also the antique tractor exhibit and tractor parades. This year we set up a separate exhibit for the Museum in the Industrial Arts building. We took out the early hand planting and 1864 two row planter and we had the Farmall A together with the display board on the energy cost of tillage. We also took out seven tractors for the antique tractor exhibit and the parades. This year most of the parades were in the evening. Last year there was no tractor exhibit and there was no interest on the part of Camp Creek to organize one this year so we took over the project. Whether we continue to participate will depend on the future of the Fair.

This year we also had an exhibit at the Old Trusty show that was manned by Jerry Kohl and Mark Nickolaus. We were going to participate in Husker Harvest Days but the students needed to use our trailer to take their quarter scale tractors there so we let them borrow the trailer.

Thanks to public contacts by Amanda we have picked up a few more volunteers and we now have a new paint scheme on our front door. Phil and Jarrett and Nick MacIntosh have the garage nearly covered with plywood covered by a stucco like sheathing. This will greatly improve the exterior appearance of the building and will make the space in the garage available for exhibits.

Bob Kleis has replaced cracked window pains and re-puttied and painted the windows, which again, greatly improves the exterior appearance of the building.

Jerry Kohl and I have been working on the electric governor on the 1917 Moline tractor. This is a very unique method for controlling engine speed. It consists of a ten contact rheostat that controls the current going to the field windings on the generator. The housing for the field windings is separately mounted so that the electrical drag will cause it to rotate and move the throttle. This is proving to be an interesting project and we have a few things to figure out yet before it is operational.

I have been working on the early history of the Agricultural Engineering Department. I have also submitted a brief history of tractor testing to the ASAE Resource magazine. The deeper I dig the more I am impressed with the competence and foresight of L. W. Chase, the designer of our Museum and initiator of tractor testing.
