Human and Cultural Ecology: A Partial Bibliography

Michael C. Gunn

The following bibliography represents a partial listing of books and articles dealing with human and cultural ecology. Central to this bibliography are titles dealing with the conceptual and methodological aspects of human/cultural ecology as applicable to the broad field of anthropology. Also of primary importance are titles dealing with the anthropological use of population demography. Topics of related interest (general ecology, human adaptation, bioenergetics, etc.) are represented by selected titles. While the bibliography falls far short of total citation of all articles dealing with the aforementioned topics, it should provide a firm base upon which the student or researcher may build. Those individuals requiring further citation in more specialized areas are urged to consult the references contained with the articles of special interest. In addition, the bibliographies contained within Anderson 1973, Bennett 1976, Hardesty 1977, and Netting 1977 are quite good and may be used to supplement many of the areas given secondary attention in the present work.

The following are the abbreviations to be used within the bibliography:
