

University of Nebraska - Lincoln

DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln

To Improve the Academy

Professional and Organizational Development
Network in Higher Education

1996

Editorial Matter 1996

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.unl.edu/podimproveacad>

Part of the Higher Education Administration Commons

"Editorial Matter 1996" (1996). To Improve the Academy. 351.

<https://digitalcommons.unl.edu/podimproveacad/351>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Professional and Organizational Development Network in Higher Education at DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln. It has been accepted for inclusion in To Improve the Academy by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln.

TO IMPROVE THE ACADEMY

◆ 1 9 9 6 ◆

Resources for Faculty,
Instructional, & Organizational Development

*A Publication of the Professional & Organizational Development Network in Higher Education
Volume 15*

JUN 11 2002

UNIVERSITY OF NEBR.
LIBRARY

To Improve the Academy

Resources for Faculty, Instructional, and
Organizational Development

Volume 15, 1996

To Improve the Academy

•
Resources for Faculty, Instructional, and Organizational Development

•
Volume 15, 1996

•
Editor

Laurie Richlin
International Alliance of Teacher Scholars, Inc. and University of Pittsburgh

•
Associate Editor

Deborah DeZure
Eastern Michigan University

The Professional and Organizational Development Network in Higher Education

Copyright © 1996 by the Professional and Organizational Development Network in Higher Education.
All rights reserved.

New Forums Press, Inc., Publisher
Stillwater, Oklahoma

FIRST PRINTING: October 1996

To Improve the Academy

To Improve the Academy (ISSN: 1065-237X) is published annually by the Professional and Organizational Development Network in Higher Education (POD) through New Forums Press, Stillwater, OK., and is abstracted in ERIC documents and in Higher Education Abstracts.

ORDERING INFORMATION

The annual volume of To Improve the Academy is distributed to members at the POD conference in the autumn of each year. Additional copies can be ordered at a cost of $8.50 plus $1.50 for shipping and handling. To order or to obtain more information, contact Doug Dollar, New Forums Press, P.O. Box 876, Stillwater, OK (Phone: [405] 372-6158).

PERMISSION TO COPY

The contents of the 1996 To Improve the Academy are copyrighted to protect the authors. Nevertheless, consistent with the networking and resource-sharing functions of POD, readers are encouraged to reproduce articles and cases from To Improve the Academy for educational use, as long as the source is identified. A journal citation has been placed at the bottom of the first page of each entry to assist in citing the source.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONTRIBUTORS FOR THE 1996 VOLUME

Anyone interested in the issues related to instructional, faculty, and organizational development in higher education may submit manuscripts. Typically, manuscripts are submitted to the current editors in January or early February of each year and sent through a blind review process. Correspondence, including requests for information about guidelines and submission of manuscripts for the 1997 volume, should be directed to:

Deborah DeZure
Director, Faculty Center for Instructional Excellence
Eastern Michigan University
519 Pray-Harrold
Ypsilanti, MI 48197 USA
(313) 487-1386
emu_dezure@online.emich.edu

Reviewers for the 1996 Volume

Marva Barnett
University of Virginia

Cheryl Amundsen
McGill University

Joseph Brocato
Michigan State University

James Browne
University of Southern Colorado

Michele Chase
UC Berkeley

Philip G. Cottell
Miami University

Will Davis
UC Davis

Art Crawley
Louisiana State University

Rita Rodabaugh
Ocean County College

Madelyn M. Healy
Kean College of New Jersey

Ben Ward
Western Carolina University

Chuck Spuches
SUNY College of Environmental Science and Forestry

Foreword

The Professional and Organizational Development (POD) Network in Higher Education is an alliance of professionals in a wide variety of institutions and job titles. POD includes full-time administrators who run offices of faculty development, part-time faculty developers who continuing to teach in their disciplines, and full-time faculty, serving their campus on faculty development committees. Over one third of our membership changes each year as campus committees bring in different faculty members to confront the possibilities of teaching and learning excellence. As a result, there are three distinct areas where POD is the primary organization involved in both research and practice: instructional improvement, faculty development, and organizational development. This issue of To Improve the Academy provides the latest results of work in those key areas.

Many people worked diligently on the 1996 edition of TIA. Deb DeZure, this year's associate editor and next year's editor, was chief honcho for three important articles from plenary speakers at the 1995 POD national conference. Ed Neal, last year's editor and current chair of the Publications Committee, was always ready with both support and good advice. The reviewers spent countless hours providing detailed feedback to authors to help improve their manuscripts. Rachelle Schaaf edited and formatted the manuscripts. And Doug Dollar of New Forums Press once again won our appreciation for his patience, cooperation, and enduring good humor.

Laurie Richlin
Pittsburgh, PA
August 1996

Professional and Organizational Development Network in Higher Education (POD)

Mission Statement

Approved by the Core Committee on March 24, 1991

The Professional and Organizational Development Network in Higher Education (POD) fosters human development in higher education through faculty, instructional, and organizational development.

POD believes that people have value, as individuals and as members of groups. The development of students is a fundamental purpose of higher education and requires for its success effective advising, teaching, leadership, and management. Central to POD's philosophy is lifelong, holistic, personal and professional learning growth, and change for the higher education community.

The three purposes of POD are:

- To provide support and services for its members through publications, conferences, consulting, and networking.
- To offer services and resources to others interested in faculty development.
- To fulfill an advocacy role, nationally, seeking to inform and persuade educational leaders of the value of faculty, instructional, and organizational development in institutions of higher education.

Membership, Conference and Programs Information

For information contact:

David Graf, Manager of Administrative Services, POD Network
Media Resources Center, 15B Exhibit Hall South
Iowa State University
Ames, IA 50011
(515) 294-3808

Contents

Foreword	vii
Section I: Instructional Development	1
Through the Lens of Learning: How Experiencing Difficult Learning Challenges and Changes Assumptions About Teaching	3
Stephen Brookfield
On Student Development in College: Evidence From the National Study of Student Learning	17
Ernest T. Pascarella
What Every Faculty Developer Needs to Know About Learning Groups	31
Larry K. Michaelsen, L. Dee Fink, and Robert H. Black
Computer-mediated Communication in the Classroom: Models for Enhancing Student Learning	59
Karin L. Sandell, Robert K. Stewart, and Candace K. Stewart
Dan Tries Problem-Based Learning: A Case Study	75
Harold B. White, III
Section II: Faculty Development	93
Monitoring the Pulse of the Faculty: Needs Assessment in Faculty Development Programs	95
Jon E. Travis, Dan Hursh, Gentry Lankewicz, and Li Tang
Who Uses Faculty Development Services?	115
Nancy Van Note Chism and Borbála Szabó
Professors as Clients for Instructional Development	129
Ronald A. Smith and George L. Geis
Innovative Teaching and Teaching Improvement	155
Joyce Powlacs Lunde and Myra S. Wilhite

Experiences of Newly Hired Faculty	169
Robert J. Menges
Section III: Organizational Development	183
Moving Toward a University Environment Which Rewards Teaching: The Faculty Developer's Role	185
Delivee L. Wright
Transforming Faculty into an Agile Workforce	195
Robert Dove and Dina Wills
Making the Transition from Soft to Hard Funding: The Politics of Institutionalizing Instructional Development Programs	209
Mary L. Everley and Jan Smith
Designing, Implementing, and Assessing a University Technology-Pedagogy Institute	231
Devorah A. Lieberman and John Reuter
Establishing a Community of Conversation: Creating a Context for Self-Reflection Among Teacher Scholars	251
Victoria Harper
Partners in Pedagogy: Faculty Development Through the Scholarship of Teaching	267
Gabriele B. Sweidel
A Department-Based Approach to Developing Teaching Portfolios: Perspectives for Faculty Developers	275
Milton D. Cox	