

University of Nebraska - Lincoln

DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln

---

Court Review: The Journal of the American
Judges Association

American Judges Association

---

2016

Court Review: The Journal of the American Judges Association, Volume 52, Issue 2, Editor's Note

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.unl.edu/ajacourtreview>

---

"Court Review: The Journal of the American Judges Association, Volume 52, Issue 2, Editor's Note" (2016). Court Review: The Journal of the American Judges Association. 573.
<https://digitalcommons.unl.edu/ajacourtreview/573>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the American Judges Association at DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln. It has been accepted for inclusion in Court Review: The Journal of the American Judges Association by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln.

Court Review

THE JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN JUDGES ASSOCIATION
Volume 52, Issue 2

2016

EDITOR'S NOTE

In this issue, we present three articles squarely focused on what judges do, addressing issues of emotion, wisdom, and ethics.

In our first article, Sharyn Roach Anleu, David Rottman, and Kathy Mack consider the role of emotion in the work judges do. They have embarked on a four-year international study of judging and emotions; this article provides a first look at background research, their project, and the intersection of emotions and judicial misbehavior as shown in several specific examples. For another look at judging and emotion, take a look at Terry Maroney's prior Court Review article, The Emotionally Intelligent Judge: A New (And Realistic) Ideal, available online at <http://goo.gl/SL96i0>.

Our second article considers what qualities constitute judicial wisdom. Your editors noticed an online paper by Jeremy Blumenthal and Daria Bakina that summarized their empirical look at factors that might contribute to judicial wisdom. Sadly, after we got their agreement to adapt the article for our readers, Professor Blumenthal died. We are pleased that Professor Bakina made the adjustments needed to turn the online paper into this article. Take a look at the characteristics of a wise judge found in the tables at pages 77 and 78. Which do you think are the most important? We'd welcome your comment in a letter to the editor for publication.

Our third article is one that you'll want to keep handy to give to each new judge appointed to your court. Cynthia Gray, one of the leading experts on judicial ethics, provides an overview of what every new judge needs to consider as he or she moves to the bench. Of course, many of the topics covered are significant to all judges—such as what community activities you can participate in and what business and financial activities you can carry out—so the article will provide a useful review for experienced judges too. We do hope, though, that you'll pass it along to new judges while also telling them about the benefits of membership in the American Judges Association, including Court Review.

Keep in mind that past issues of Court Review from 1998 to the present are available at amjudges.org/publications. So if you want to find a PDF version of any article to send to a colleague, you can. You'll also find each AJA white paper at amjudges.org/publications.—SL

Court Review, the quarterly journal of the American Judges Association, invites the submission of unsolicited, original articles, essays, and book reviews. Court Review seeks to provide practical, useful information to the working judges of the United States and Canada. In each issue, we hope to provide information that will be of use to judges in their everyday work, whether in highlighting new procedures or methods of trial, court, or case management, providing substantive information regarding an area of law likely to be encountered by many judges, or by providing background information (such as psychology or other social science research) that can be used by judges in their work. Guidelines for the submission of manuscripts for Court Review are set forth on page 7 of volume 52, issue 1. Court Review reserves the right to edit, condense, or reject material submitted for publication.

Advertising: Court Review accepts advertising for products and services of interest to judges. For information, contact Shelley Rockwell at (757) 259-1841.

Cover photo, Mary S. Watkins (maryswatkins@mac.com). The cover photo is of the Andrew County Courthouse in Savannah, Missouri.

©2016, American Judges Association, printed in the United States. Court Review is published quarterly by the American Judges Association (AJA). AJA members receive a subscription to Court Review. Non-member subscriptions are available for $35 per volume (four issues per volume). Subscriptions are terminable at the end of any volume upon notice given to the publisher. Prices are subject to change without notice. Second-class postage paid at Williamsburg, Virginia, and additional mailing offices. Address all correspondence about subscriptions, undeliverable copies, and change of address to Association Services, National Center for State Courts, Williamsburg, Virginia 23185-4147. Points of view or opinions expressed in Court Review are those of the authors and do not necessarily represent the positions of the National Center for State Courts or the American Judges Association. ISSN: 0011-0647.

Cite as: 52 Ct. Rev. ____ (2016).