NEBRASKA LAW REVIEW

The Nebraska Law Review is compiled and edited at the University of Nebraska College of Law, which is a part of the larger University of Nebraska system. The editorial staff for the Nebraska Law Review wants to acknowledge that we are all guests on these lands. The University of Nebraska is a public, land-grant institution, and the University of Nebraska system is located on the past, present, and future homelands of the Pãri (Pawnee), Umóⁿhoⁿ (Omaha), Cheyenne, Ponca, Oto-Missouria, Dakota, Lakota (including the Oglala), Arapaho, and Kaw peoples and the relocated Ho-Chunk (Winnebago), Iowa, and Sac and Fox peoples. The editorial staff of the Nebraska Law Review recognizes the forced removal, genocide, violence, and displacement of the aforementioned peoples and the role these tragic events have had in the creation of the University of Nebraska system. If you are reading this Journal, please consider taking the time to learn whose stolen land you are on by accessing <https://native-land.ca>. Additionally, please consider donating to the Native American Coalition Excellence Fund at <https://nufoundation.org/fund/01153940/>. The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Native American Coalition sponsors and facilitates community development through programs like the Cultural Knowledge Exchange Project, the Mni Waconi (Water is Life) Program, the Indigenous Food Sovereignty Program, and more.
