Cash In On Your Investment

Soybean growers today face more challenges than ever before: competition in the global market, changes in government programs, and more choices for crop inputs. The Soybean Learning Center will help you make decisions to increase productivity and profitability. As a soybean producer, you have invested in research and technology through the checkoff program. This event is part of your dividends from your investment.

The Soybean Learning Center is different from other field events because it:

- ◆ Integrates the entire crop production system, from seed selection to irrigation
- ◆ Focuses on educating growers and ag professionals, not on selling products
- ◆ Shows how to increase productivity and profitability

This is a one-day, 5-hour program. Programs start at 10:00 a.m. You may register at the door. Be sure to cash in on your checkoff investment. See you there!
