

University of Nebraska - Lincoln

DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln

10th Annual National Conference (2005): Different
Perspectives on Majority Rules

People of Color in Predominantly White Institutions

November 2005

Equality is a Bitch! Blackness is a State of Mind. Internalization of Whiteness is a Forced Reality

Ida Stewart

Assistant Director, Institute Administrator, Research and Instructor, William B. Steward Institute

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.unl.edu/pocpwi10>

Part of the Race, Ethnicity and Post-Colonial Studies Commons

Stewart, Ida, "Equality is a Bitch! Blackness is a State of Mind. Internalization of Whiteness is a Forced Reality" (2005). 10th Annual National Conference (2005): Different Perspectives on Majority Rules. 35.
<http://digitalcommons.unl.edu/pocpwi10/35>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the People of Color in Predominantly White Institutions at DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln. It has been accepted for inclusion in 10th Annual National Conference (2005): Different Perspectives on Majority Rules by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@University of Nebraska - Lincoln.

Equality is a Bitch! Blackness is a State of Mind. Internalization of Whiteness is a Forced Reality

Abstract

This presentation will demonstrate how the striving and struggle for “equality” by non-white students (Blacks, Native Americans, Hispanics, and other groups) in predominantly white educational institutions have not achieved “equality” when they graduate. They have acquired an “equivalent” rank of “as if equal” non-white elite in a non-white world separate (de facto) and unequal that is an imitation of the white world. The socioeconomic hierarchy is an abstract, powerless dependent world in a colony-like state. The power that they have serves the white powerful ruling white group more than it serves the nonwhite community. The relationship between the white ruling group and the elitist non-white group is still dependent and parasited symbiotic. The non-whites have abstract privilege but no built entitlements. Their socioeconomic hierarchy is analogous to the imperial dependency as that exists in the Third World.

Ida Stewart

Assistant Director, Institute Administrator, Research and Instructor, William B. Stewart Institute

William B. Stewart

Director Emeritus, Minority Student Programs, University of Minnesota Morris