Editors' Note:

There are not many student-run academic journals, and even fewer student-run anthropological journals. We are happy to provide a forum in which anthropologists and other similarly-interested students can present their interests and intellectual work. Anthropology is the study of humanity in all walks of life, and Nebraska Anthropologist is a small testament to what can be accomplished when a community works together.

This 28th anniversary volume would not have been possible without the guidance and support of the editors that have gone before us, notably Benjamin Grant Purzycki and all those whose work has instilled Nebraska Anthropologist with its quality and longevity. Thanks to a long series of excellent editors and the tradition they have established, the journal will continue to express the research interests and pursuits of the anthropological student community.

We would also like to thank you for purchasing a copy of this journal. Such a project could not continue without your support.

The Nebraska Anthropologist welcomes submissions from students from any school in any discipline regarding our species' past, present, and future. Send your submission, with the appropriate contact information, on a disk and 2 hardcopies to the following address:

Our logo is based on the traditional honor tattoo that Omaha women traditionally wore. The circle, representing the sun, was placed in the middle of a woman's forehead. The star was placed on the upper chest. According to Fletcher and La Flesche (1992), "The star is emblematic of the night, the great mother force, its four points representing also the life-giving winds into the midst of which the child was sent through the ceremony of Turning the Child" (505).
