IN MEMORIAM

James Sinclair Ross, 1908-1996. Sinclair Ross was the author of As for Me and My House, the deceptively simple and hauntingly elusive novel of the Depression in a small town in Saskatchewan. Hardly noticed when it was first published in 1941, the novel has become an icon of Great Plains and Canadian literature. Ross also published three other novels and two volumes of short stories. “Reality as the rest of us know it disappears from him. It isn’t that he sits daydreaming or lost in the clouds—at such times there’s actually a vitality about him that you’re relieved to get away from—but rather as if he pierces this workaday reality of ours, half scales it off, sees hidden behind it another.” —As for Me and My House
